

Agile and DevOps is all we do. Since 2008, our agile and DevOps engineers have helped organizations accelerate software delivery. We share this knowledge as consultants, trainers, and coaches.

How We Can Help

Transform

Improve agile and DevOps capabilities through assessments, benchmarks, and coaching

Build

Use agile and lean engineering techniques to plan, design, and build mission-critical software

Test

Align dev and test roles and use automation to continuously test code from the ground up

Secure

Assure the privacy and security of software applications and infrastructure as you build

Deliver

Define value streams, create DevOps teams, and build automation to deliver faster

Improve

Train and certify your staff in agile, DevOps, software testing, software security, and more

Learning Journeys

Need direction? Our predefined and customized learning journeys accelerate skills development for teams, teams of teams, and individuals, helping you move to a new state, with improved core competencies and accelerated delivery methods.

Using defined learning paths, the interactive courses in these plans build on each other and are designed to move knowledge and skills from foundational to advanced capabilities.

Foundational

Concepts and best practices, shared vocabulary, and fundamental skills

Hands-On

Practical exercises and activities that build functional skills

Advanced

Specialized leadership and technical skill building

When combined with hands-on coaching and mentoring, participants apply newly-learned techniques to their current software projects. Learning journeys create a structured learning experience and foster a culture of continuous improvement within an organization, all while continuing to meet delivery commitments.
